

Dope..

Our new Legal Remedy is high time coming, pun intended. Hey, it's better that the way we had? We must all agreed that too many people have gone to jail for the crime of self-medication and social dumbing down. So now we can have an honest look at the epidemic and the treatment, without tip toeing around the legal system.

A couple of odd facts from someone who grew up in the post 60's era with a good and plenty supply of what can only be called, a stunning quality of dope on the streets. First and foremost, dope does not make you smart. Seems like a simple statement but the dopers will have to think about it a while. Just like the alcoholic really isn't doing his best work when they are drunk, the stoner is pretty much in the same boat. That's not criminal so hallelujah it's just another expensive waste of time just like sports or other recreational activity only with a little less of a carbon foot print.

However, there is one aspect that we should all be aware of. The moral and ethical thresholds for the users of these controlled substances can be seriously affected. Sad but true, the serious dopers are just not our best citizens. Dopers are like golfers, they all start out honest, but eventually get over it. Hey guys this is as true of a statement as has ever been made and here is the math. You want to temporarily alter your brains chemistry with, god only knows, some concoction that has been put in front of you, -1 point. You got your stash it from someone you know who is just like you, -1 point. Or maybe you got it from someone you really don't know but this is his business and he is a reliable source, -10 points, and so forth and so on. However, there is another dimension that compounds the math and should not be overlooked, that is your wave~link and the people that you associate and synchronize with. Think Antifa, this is probably extreme so maybe try Antifa Light, ok nice enough bunch of people, left untriggered. Kind of a club of likeminded folks, all paying their dues and repeating the common mantra of whatever it may be. Some members are a little better than others just like any other social club or religious gathering except this is a dopers club and there are several points off for each member. Believe it or not, this group has an advantage over most all the other groups. Yes, they are very easy to control and manipulate, more so than any other group since they will routinely lower their own IQ's to experience a lower IQ, and are even willing to pay for it.

Our new legal right to organize under this old epidemic needs some safety instructions for beginners and the slow learners. This is a business that was created, run, supported and promoted by major league organized crime. These are not good people and in fact our new club supports some the most hideous, murderous people in the world today. Most of these mob guys just want the money but some of them are truly evil, but even worse than these are the true believers who are like programmable machines. Your misery represents their bottom line and one way or another they will try to isolate and control you to maximize the profits.

Fear not! We can still be organized as a group with growing power to do good work. Our lesser state of humanity will be an advantage for many groups offering simple utopian solutions. Communism, socialism, Antifa and Islam are all dying for new members and any one of these organizations can offer you a business plan for a successful future, we may even have some advantages since critical thinking would be discouraged. If you think this is funny or un-true, you need to look at what is going on in the world today and pray that we can all be better than that...
